

Leaving a conversation

Sometimes, someone is talking to you and you want to leave the conversation.

This is okay. It is important to do it politely. Follow these steps.

Wait for a pause in the conversation.

Look at the person and tell them directly and kindly that you do not want to keep talking.

You can say, "It's been nice talking, but I need to go. Let's talk later."

Gather your belongings.

Smile at the person.

Move toward the exit
and leave.

When someone ends a conversation, it does not mean they are mad.
